HSW – Fastening Elements Factory FASTEC Ltd is the leading manufacturer and supplier of fastening elements for building-, machine-building and electronic industry, engineering, petrochemistry, and motorization. We are the only producer of original fastening elements for building machines produced by HSW – they have been made for over 40 years on the basis of factory process documentation. Perfect knowledge of technology and long-standing market presence enable us to implement the demand for fastening elements with advanced mechanical properties.

We basically produce fastening elements according to national and foreign standards as well as non-standard size elements with advanced mechanical properties that can be marked individually. Our products find application mainly in engineering and automotive industries.

Our fastening elements are compatible with the PN-EN ISO 9001 quality systems and guidelines included not only in Polish PN standards but also in foreign norms such as DIN, ISO, ASTM, EN
